

Introducing DocuWare Intelligent Document Processing

More automation. More AI. More to love.

If you think DocuWare makes you more efficient, wait till you experience DocuWare IDP (Intelligent Document Processing). The newly enhanced technology seamlessly levels up your document management solution with intuitive, AI-powered document classification and data extraction. And in turn, makes your business faster, more productive, and better than ever.

It does the tedious work for you.

Using advanced OCR (Optical Character Recognition) and real-time data extraction, DocuWare IDP minimizes manual entry, so your people can get back to what they do best. The automated process reduces human error, and scales effortlessly for high-volume, diverse document workflow. The result: Increased efficiency and reduced operating costs.

It doesn't just extract information. It puts it to work.

DocuWare IDP uses the latest advancements in natural language processing, computer vision and machine learning so you can easily automate the process of validating and structuring data from documents, invoices, receipts, contracts, forms and reports.

Whether you're in IT, HR, finance, education, manufacturing — you name it — DocuWare IDP helps:

- Integrate document processing into custom applications
- Automate invoice processing, contract analysis and compliance document handling
- Process document intake needs from stakeholders all over the world.
